REPORT OF THE CHAIR

As an artist, I have always known the life-giving role that arts and culture play in the health of our communities. This belief was reinforced for me last October when the Council held its fall meeting in Prince George.

Prince George has invested tremendously in its cultural institutions and this investment and the dedication of hundreds of volunteers and professionals is transforming their community. A new art gallery and a new museum, the success of Theatre Northwest and the Prince George Symphony and the development of the University of Northern British Columbia are sources of great pride and new vitality for the people of Prince George.

During our visit to Prince George, Council members met with arts and cultural organizations, media and community leaders from Fort St. John to Wells. We believe these meetings are essential if the Council is to understand and respond to the issues facing the whole cultural community of BC and we have committed ourselves to scheduling at least one meeting per year in a different region of the province.

As Chair of the BC Arts Council, I am in the privileged position of seeing how the arts can infuse passion and imagination into individuals and communities across the province.

Seventy-five years ago, Albert Einstein noted, "I am enough of an artist to draw freely upon my imagination. Imagination is more important than knowledge. Knowledge is limited. Imagination encircles the world." These words are as true now as they were then. They speak of the role of the arts if we are to educate well-rounded thinkers, designers, artists, researchers, visionaries and creators. But it is not just in education where the benefits are evident.

Increasingly, studies suggest that cultural participation contributes to increased life expectancy and can be a tool for healing. Music, dance and art therapies are appearing in hospitals and clinics everywhere. In dealing with social issues, our province's theatres continually shine light on complex issues such as immigration, racism, family violence and AIDS. These works bring understanding and tolerance as well as laughter, tears and self-awareness.

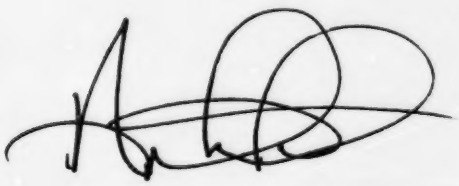
The arts do not stand apart from society. Societies have always supported culture for fundamental reasons—because our ability to create gives rise to our greatest achievements and because culture is the only lasting way in which a society can define itself.

These reasons suggest public investment in the arts is more than well justified. When combined with its other attributes, it is clear that investment in the arts returns significant benefits—to our economy, to the strength of our social fabric and to the recognition of ourselves as imaginative citizens who can create a worthwhile, nurturing society.

The BC Arts Council will continue to work to ensure that government and the private sector commit fully to achieving the cultural sector's powerful potential.

At this time, I would like to thank my colleagues on Council and the juries, advisory committees and staff whose work and commitment makes it possible for us to deliver our programs and to fulfil our mandate.

Most importantly, I want to thank artists and arts and cultural organizations throughout British Columbia. Your commitment, creativity and resilience constantly amaze me. British Columbia is a stronger, more productive and more creative community because of your devoted contribution. Thank you for what you give to us all.



Ann Mortifee

Highlights and Achievements

Dance

Ice: Beyond Cool toured nationally in 2000/2001. A 15-member cast of young dancers and actors employed dance, theatre and rock music to explore the issue of teen suicide.

Ballet British Columbia and artistic director John Alleyne toured Canada to critical acclaim with a new full-length production based on Henry Purcell's Faerie Queen.

The Holy Body Tattoo took their Alcan Arts Award production of "Circa" on tour across Canada and to the United States and Germany.

Artists and Arts Events

Vancouver artist Ken Lum travelled to Vienna, where he presented the work, There Is No Place Like Home, a project of the Museum in Progress. Lum's photo and text montage was installed on an outside wall of the Kunsthalle, Vienna's main art exhibition hall, where it received widespread attention during its three-month installation.

Vancouver held its 8th ARTROPOLIS, a multidisciplinary visual arts event that featured over 200 artists. Based in Vancouver, the society responsible for the event continues to expand its membership, seeking advisors from around the province in an effort to make the event more representative of artists from across British Columbia.

Art Starts in Schools Society (ArtStarts), a BC-based organization that provides programs and services for young people, artists, educators, programmers, parent and community organizations, arranged 1800 performances by 275 artists and arts organizations in schools across the province.

Artists Stan Douglas and Jeff Wall were selected to represent Canada at the 12th Sydney Biennale, a prestigious international visual arts exhibition in 2001.

Music

The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra received a certificate from The Guiness Book of World Records for breaking the record of having the largest orchestra ever. Consisting of 6,452 musicians from the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra and music students from across British Columbia, the orchestra played "Ten Minutes of Nine" for nine minutes forty-four seconds at the B.C. Place Stadium in Vancouver on May 15, 2000.

Victoria held its inaugural Rootsfest Music Festival in July 2000. The festival brought over 15,000 participants, Canadian and international performers and 900 volunteers together over three days on the grounds of Hatley Castle.

Uzume Taiko, a professional taiko drum group, performed in Japan in the summer of 2000. Formed in 1988, Uzume Taiko has performed at festivals, schools, concerts and special events across Canada and internationally with its dynamic synthesis of music, movement and theatre.

Theatre

The Arts Club's production of She Loves Me, featuring the creative team of Morris Panych, Ken MacDonald, Nancy Bryant and Bruce Kellet won several Jessie Richardson Theatre Awards, including the "Jessie" for outstanding production.

The Vancouver Playhouse and Canadian Stage co produced Margaret Edson's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, Wit, to critical acclaim.

The Alcan Performing Arts Award selection, Dona Flor and Her Two Husbands, co produced by the Electric Company, Vancouver Playhouse and Vancouver artist Carmen Aguirre, played to sold out audiences at the Vancouver East Cultural Centre and the WISE Hall.

The Green Thumb Theatre for Young Audiences performed 418 times in the USA and Canada. Green Thumb has emerged as one of Canada's leading theatre companies for young people, producing material for audiences and artists, and contributing to the growing body of work evolving in this field.

Venues

Both new and refurbished facilities were opened in 2000/2001 for arts and cultural activities in the province.

The Two Rivers Gallery of Prince George and Region (2RG) opened in a new facility in June 2000. The new gallery features an outdoor sculpture exhibition area, two exhibition galleries, two studios, an interactive area for children, and collections storage and curatorial/exhibition preparation areas. As a regional art gallery, 2RG is intended to serve communities as far east as Valemount and as far north as Mackenzie. The gallery's inaugural installations included works by the Group of Seven and Emily Carr contrasted with works of contemporary artists from the interior of BC, and an exhibit of paintings and drawings by Carr and Shadbolt from the Belkin Collection at UBC.

Alert Bay's U'mista Cultural Centre reopened after extensive upgrades and ongoing expansion to accommodate conservation, collections storage, exhibition, shop and office areas. The centre is host to the "Potlatch Collection," a permanent and growing exhibit of pieces repatriated from museums across North America. A second gallery serves as a display area for travelling and temporary exhibitions.

The Japanese Canadian Museum opened in August 2000. Built at the National Nikkei Heritage Centre in Burnaby and designed by architect Raymond Moriyama, the museum preserves and presents the unique history of Japanese Canadians.

Books

Encyclopedia of British Columbia. The most comprehensive reference work on British Columbia ever published contains a million words of essential BC knowledge illustrated in full colour and on multimedia CD-ROM. Editor Daniel Francis, published by Harbour Publishing.

ART BC - Masterworks from British Columbia. This overview of outstanding works reflects a history of the visual arts in BC. By Ian Thom and published by Douglas and McIntyre with the Vancouver Art Gallery.

The Transforming Image: Painted Arts of the Northwest Coast First Nations. Based on the exhibition of the same name and the investigations of the Image Recovery Project, this book illustrates infrared photographs of historic Northwest Coast paintings from collections around the world, recognizing the range of styles and identifying the work of artists from the past century. By Bill McLennan and Karen Duffek, published by UBC Press and University of Washington Press.

Honours and Awards

In November 2000, Royce Frith and John Gray were appointed to the Order of Canada. Royce Frith of Vancouver was honoured for his contribution to public service through a number of positions, including trustee of the Vancouver Symphony. John Gray of Vancouver was recognized for his prolific career as a playwright and composer in addition to his role as a commentator on cultural issues through his work as a broadcaster, magazine writer and newspaper columnist.

Governor-General Adrienne Clarkson presented the 2000 Governor General's Literary Award to poet Don McKay of Victoria for his book of poetry, Another Gravity. Mr McKay has published eight books of poetry, including Night Field, which won the Governor General's Literary Award for poetry in 1991.

The province's highest award for outstanding achievement, the Order of British Columbia, was presented to three of BC's cultural leaders in 2000. Jane Heffelfinger was honoured for her efforts to bring new standards to Canadian opera and, through her leadership in fundraising, financial stability to Pacific Opera Victoria. Jazz vocalist and pianist Diana Krall was recognized as an exemplar and inspiration for young British Columbians pursuing careers in music. Diana Krall also won a Grammy in 2000 year for best jazz vocal performance. Gordon Smith, the founding patron of the Artists For Kids Foundation, was honoured for his support to young artists and his efforts to promote arts and culture in British Columbia. Mr Smith is also a recipient of the Order of Canada.

Six BC authors were awarded BC Book Prizes at a ceremony hosted by John Gray. The Ethel Wilson Fiction Prize was awarded to Michael Turner for his book, The Pornographer's Poem. The Haig-Brown Regional Prize was awarded to Margaret Horsfield for her book, Cougar Annie's Garden. The Hubert Evans Non-Fiction Prize was awarded to Rita Moir for her book, Buffalo Jump: A Woman's Travels. Derek Hayes received the Bill Duthie Booksellers' Choice award for his book, Historical Atlas of British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest. The Dorothy Livesay Poetry Prize was awarded to Lorna Crozier for her book, What the Living Won't Let Go. The Sheila Egoff Children's Prize was awarded to Vivien Bowers for her book, WOW Canada! Exploring The Land From Coast To Coast to Coast.

Vancouver Sun's Mix magazine was recognized as Magazine of the Year for Western Canada and the BC/Yukon region at the 18th Annual Western Magazine Awards.

Victoria singer and songwriter Nelly Furtado won best release with major distribution for "Whoa, Nelly!" at the West Coast Music Awards, in addition to best single, new solo artist and best songwriter at the 2001 June Awards.

Special Resources

In March 2001, the provincial government invested an additional $3.6 million to assist arts organizations through the BC Arts Council. The funds were distributed to clients and projects throughout British Columbia.

Arts Council Activities

During the 2000/2001 fiscal year, the Council:

* Achieved its performance targets and delivered $14.5 million in program support to approximately 800 organizations and individuals throughout British Columbia.
* Developed programs to serve regional arts councils and to encourage regional arts activity.
* Implemented program changes for professional theatre.
* Completed review of performing arts touring.
* Reviewed programs that serve the dance community.
* Analyzed the arts-in-education marketplace.
* Developed programs for Arts and Culture Week to encourage greater public awareness of the importance of cultural activity.

British Columbia Arts Council

The British Columbia Arts Council is an independent agency established by the Province of British Columbia to:

1. provide support for arts and culture in British Columbia,
2. provide individuals and organizations with the opportunity to participate in the arts and culture in British Columbia, and
3. provide an open, accountable, and neutrally administered process for managing funds for arts and culture in British Columbia.

In performing its duties, the Arts Council must:

1. consult with artists, arts and cultural organizations, governments, and other interested communities,
2. allocate the money appropriated annually for the Council by the Legislature, and
3. support arts and culture in British Columbia through the following:
   - public education, research and advocacy,
   - awarding grants, and
   - the production and distribution of information on the Council and arts and culture in BC.

The Role of the Cultural Services Branch

The Cultural Services Branch is responsible for:

- ensuring the complete and orderly management of all BC Arts Council programs;
- consulting with arts organizations, individuals and other government agencies to exchange information pertaining to programs, guidelines, and ministry policy;
- preparing regular reports on the effectiveness of programs and policies, needs of the arts community, and administrative procedures; and
- coordinating all Arts Council activities including notice of meetings, agendas, meeting minutes, Council meetings, and Advisory Committee meetings.

Development of Program Guidelines

The guidelines outlined in individual program descriptions have been developed through consultation with individuals and organizations in the arts and cultural community, along with recommendations from the BC Arts Council and its advisory committees. Program guidelines and eligibility criteria are regularly reviewed and updated. Programs are subject to revision, suspension or cancellation without notice.

While program guidelines are not intended to limit the applicant's creativity, they do indicate the general priorities and goals of the awards programs.

Application Policies and Procedures

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

1. All applicants must contact the appropriate program coordinator prior to making application.
2. Applications must be made on forms provided. Additional application requirements are specific to each program and must be submitted according to program guidelines, which are available from the branch. The branch is not responsible for the loss or damage of supporting materials submitted with applications.
3. Applications will not be accepted retroactively.
4. Any major changes in budgets and/or projects, after an application has been submitted, must be provided in writing and discussed with the appropriate program coordinator.
5. Applicant organizations may be required to submit an audited financial statement.
6. Applicants must allow staff, BC Arts Council members, advisors or authorized assessors reasonable access to view the applicants' facilities, work, program or project funded.

ASSESSMENT PROCESS

Each application received is first registered and then assigned to a program coordinator, who is responsible for ensuring that the application is complete and meets eligibility criteria for the program in question.

Following preparation by the program coordinator, each application is presented for adjudication to a minimum of one of the following bodies:

- an independent peer jury;
- an advisory committee for the applicable discipline;
- the Management Committee;
- the British Columbia Arts Council.

Awards are considered by the British Columbia Arts Council at one of several meetings held annually.

AWARDS DECISIONS AND NOTIFICATION

Applicants are notified of decisions in writing following the review process, which may require 10 to 12 weeks or more after the deadline.

1. All applicants will be notified of the award decisions by letter. Applicants receiving an award must fulfil any terms or conditions determined during the adjudication process. The BC Arts Council will notify applicants of any terms and conditions related to award payment schedules. Awards may not necessarily be at the maximum level of support available.
2. Operating award decisions may be appealed. Notice of appeal must be filed with the BC Arts Council within 30 days of the decision announcement. Appeals must be based on significant new information which was unavailable at the time of the original evaluation. Juried arts awards decisions are not subject to appeal.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF AWARDS

Recipients are informed that as a condition of funding, the BC Arts Council requires that award recipients acknowledge the support of the British Columbia Arts Council in all promotional materials. This includes media releases, advertisements, posters, programs and other promotional materials. Examples of camera ready formats along with usage guidelines are provided.

Recipients may also obtain the logo in a variety of formats on our website at:

www.bcartscouncil.gov.bc.ca

The logo must be used on posters, brochures, print ads and programs and used where possible on media releases and signage related to the funded project.
